The pink bike

Characters

A boy named ahmad with his bicycle

Setting

His house during quarantine

Problem

The boy took his sister pink bike but he's embarrassed to ride it in the neighbourhood

Solution

He painted the bike with a black spray can

Ending

Now he feels happy and confident and he can ride it in the neighbourhood

There was a boy named Ahmad. He felt bored during quarantine time, so he decided to learn a new thing. He thought it is a good time to learn how to ride a bike without training wheels.

Ahmad's bike was small for him. So he decided to use his sister's bike because it didn't have training wheels. His sister's bike was pink so he was scared that he would embarrass himself in the neighbourhood. Therefore, he asked his father to buy him some black paint. His father tried to find some black paint but it took him a few weeks to find it in stores.

One evening, Ahmad and his father spray painted the bike. When it was all black, he practiced without training wheels. He fell a few times but he was positive that he would learn it. A few days later he knew how to ride a bike without training wheels. He was prideful.
